

The Reading Clinic's Speaker Series

Medical and Non-Medical Approaches to Learning Challenges in Children: Helping Families Navigate Different Systems to Maximize their Child's Potential

Discover how developmental behavioral pediatricians help families understand and approach differences in learning. Dr. Rojas will discuss the difference between medical and non-medical treatments. The roles of different types of therapies (Occupational Therapy, Speech Therapy, SPED, mind-body, etc.) will be discussed using real examples from Dr. Rojas' clinical and research experiences.

Date and Time:
Thursday, April 1, 6-7:30PM

Hillbrook School
300 Marchmont Drive
Los Gatos, CA 95032

Free and Open to the Public

Neal Rojas, M.D., M.P.H., F.A.A.P.
Behavioral and Developmental Pediatrician

Dr. Rojas is a board certified behavioral and developmental pediatrician at the Center for Developing Minds. He works with the CDM clinicians to help children thrive within the context of their neurodevelopmental strengths and weaknesses. His area of interest include sleep, learning differences, autism spectrum disorders, attention challenges, adolescent development and substance-use concerns. Additionally, he has had extensive training and teaching experience in academic test-preparation.

Sponsored by The Reading Clinic

Please register at:
www.TheReadingClinic.com